NOW THE KONGO CASE

Resolution of Inquiry Disturbs Senators.

SHALL UNCLE SAM "BUY IN"?

Courts of Oregon Wants New Treaty For Total Japanese Exclusion at Once—Sponner and La Follette Hold Amicable and Humorous Confab.

By CHARLES W. ARTHUR.
Washington, Dec. 19. (Special.)—Members of the United States senate, and especially those who make up the committee on foreign relations, are more or less disturbed by the resolution introduced by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts which provides for an international inquiry into the atrocities alleged to exist in the Kongo Free State with at least the tacit consent of the king of Belgium. There is a general disposition to do whatever may be properly done toward bringing about reforms in the Kongo, but many conservative senators are doubtful if the United States is in a position to take any action whatever.

No interference abroad.
The Algeiras treaty, which was ratified last week, had attached to it a resolution specifically disclaiming any intention on the part of the United States to interfere with European politics or the internal affairs of any European nation. Had it not been for this resolution the treaty probably would not have been ratified. The Democrats particularly objected to what seemed to them to be an effort to "buy in" to old world politics. In view of the fact that we would quickly resent any attempted interference with our internal affairs on the part of a foreign power. The answer made them was that the sole object of the United States in participating in the Algeiras conference was a desire to protect our commercial interests, whereupon they insisted that a statement to this effect be incorporated in the treaty.

Inconsistent, say some.
Now some senators are asserting that Mr. Lodge's Kongo resolution proposes as direct an interference with European matters as did the Algeiras convention without the resolution of disclaimer, and there will be considerable opposition to it on that score. Some authorities express the opinion that we have no more right to suggest an international investigation of the Kongo situation than Germany, for example, would have to ask other European powers to co-operate with her in investigating lynching in this country. A number of others think that the trouble in the Kongo is by no means as bad as it has been represented to be. Indeed, it is obvious to even the superficial observer that for some reason or other a surprisingly large amount of money is being spent in having the two sides of the Kongo case presented to the American public. The Belgian government is accused of maintaining a special lobby in Washington for the purpose of preventing any congressional action with reference to the Free State conditions, and it is quite possible that the charge has at least a basis of truth. On the other hand, an equally persistent lobby is working hard to create anti-Belgian sentiment. It would be interesting to know what the subsurface facts are.

New Japanese Treaty.
Although the story that the president is negotiating a new treaty with Japan has been repeatedly denied, there can be no doubt that a strong desire for the signing of a convention which will have the effect of excluding Japanese cool laborers exists in many parts of the country. Legislators from the Pacific coast would like to get through some sort of an exclusion arrangement at this session, but there is no reason to believe that Japan will consent to anything of the kind until the complications which have resulted from the action of the San Francisco school authorities in excluding Japanese pupils in the public schools are cleared up. Senator Gearin of Oregon has offered a resolution which declares it to be the sense of the senate that the further entry of Japanese laborers is undesirable and that a treaty providing total exclusion should be negotiated at once.

Sponner and La Follette.
Because two men are political enemies it does not necessarily follow that they thirst for each other's gore. No two men in public life have fought each other more vigorously in the field of politics than the senators from Wisconsin, John Coit Spooner and Robert Marion La Follette. Yet it is not necessary for mutual friends to interpose to prevent an encounter when they are in the same neighborhood. Today the two of them happened to enter the senate marble room at the same time. In a pair of minutes they were deep in a conversation which must have been very funny, judging from the amount of laughter both indulged in. Mr. Spooner patted Mr. La Follette on the shoulder, and Mr. La Follette poked Mr. Spooner in the ribs. A great many things are different when looked at from the Washington viewpoint. "Next thing," said a spectator, "we'll have the president and Senator Tillman engaging in a love feast."

A large party of Maryland school-marks filed into the house lobby and asked L. White Busbey, Speaker Cannon's capable secretary, if they could see Uncle Joe. They could. They saw him. They saw "Maryland, My Maryland," and nearly everybody was happy. They went on their way, and Uncle Joe returned to his office. "That was bully," he remarked. "I wish they had come one at a time. 'Tough!"
